NEW STYLE.—The Virginia press is very facetious over the battles in Tennessee, and the Richmond Examiner of the 6th of January, thus gives its views of the battle at Murfreesboro:

So far, the news has come in what may be called the classic style of the Southwest. When the Southwestern army fights a battle, we first hear that it has gained one of the most stupendous victories on record; that regiments from Mississippi, Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas, etc., have exhibited an irresistible and superhuman valor, unknown in history this side of Sparta and Rome. As for the generals, they usually get their clothes shot off and replace them with a suit of glory. The enemy is, of course, simply annihilated. Next day more despatches come, still very good, but not quite so good as the first. The telegrams of the third day are invariably such as to make a mist, a muddle and a fog of the whole affair. But we are still assured that our troops are victorious; and only after several days more does the unpleasant truth leak out that they are not quite victorious, but have, in fact, lost a little ground, after gaining some very brilliant successes. So far as we know anything about the battle of Murfreesboro, it is the parallel and repetition of Shiloh. Even the number of prisoners are given in the same ciphers. But we have not yet ceased to hope for something to break the melancholy monotony, and therefore dismiss this unpleasant theme for the present with as little reluctance as the reader may imagine.

LATER.—We have to perform an unwelcome task this morning, and to chill the glow of triumph which the intelligence hitherto received from Murfreesboro has imparted to every patriotic heart. A reverse—the causes and extent unknown, has been suffered by the army under Gen. Bragg. The statements of its victorious career during the two days of the engagement already recounted are not contradicted. But since then the force and position of the parties has been entirely changed. On the first day Bragg drove the enemy from all parts of the field except one, and took 4,000 prisoners, whom we still have. On the second day he carried the remaining position.—But the enemy were not routed, and did not retire far. Rosekrans assembled all his reinforcements and reserves, and with their help has taken Murfreesboro, and forced Bragg to retreat. Whether the latter general fought a third battle before falling back, is not yet clearly ascertained. It is, however, most lamentably certain that the enemy has carried his point and retains all the advantages except the loss of prisoners and arms resulting from the battle of Murfreesboro; and now he can succor Grant, clear out the cavalry, and perhaps resume operations on the Mississippi. It must be confessed that a good deal of fortitude is required to support so painful a disappointment with equanimity. Certainly after such official statements as those Gen. Bragg has made on the last day of the past year and the beginning of the present, this sequel could not be rationally anticipated.—It is true that we may not have yet heard the end of it. Behind Gen. Bragg is Gen. Johnston. Although he cannot hope to concentrate our troops from distant points with the same ease and rapidity as the enemy, who have the rivers at their command, yet he may have reinforcements, too, still to appear on the scene. Perhaps, then, the tale is not told; and perhaps there may be another act in the drama of Murfreesboro on which the curtain has not risen.

SATURDAY MORNING FEB 14, 1863

ARREST IN CIVIL ACTIONS FOR PRIVATE WRONGS —In the case of Korb vs Mitchel the Circuit Court for this county decided that the provision of the Statute authorizing an arrest in a civil action for a willful injury to person or property is inconsistent with the provision of the Constitution of this State, which declares, "There shall be no imprisonment for debt, except in cases of fraud or absconding debtors" The provision of the Constitution in question, is the 20th subdivision of Art. 1, "Bill of Rights." Upon reflection, we think that the learned Judge who made this decision, will conclude that, although plausible, it will require modification And first, let us consider the question with reference to the words of the Constitution, simply, "There shall be no imprisonment for debt, &c." The word debt, in a legal or even popular signification, never includes a claim for uncertain damages, as an indemnity for a willful injury to person or property in other words, a trespass, a wrong, an act which is generally a public crime as well as a private wrong. The legal acceptation of the word debt is, a sum of money due by contract The Constitution limits the power of the Assembly to provide for imprisonment for debt, to the cases specified, that is, "fraud and absconding debtors," and, of course, would render inoperative any provision of existing Statutes, which extended it farther. But this was the limit of the Statute upon that subject when the Constitution was formed In this particular, the Constitution only affirmed the existing law. And now let us consider, apart from the mere words of the Constitution, what appears to have been the intention of the framers of the Constitution, for we admit that the general intent of the law-giver, when apparent, may limit or enlarge the signification of particular expressions By the then existing law, in a civil action for a willful injury, to person or property, the defendant might be arrested. Did the Constitution intend to change the rule as to wrong doers? No such intention is expressed in words Is there any reason in justice or the fitness of things, why the word debt should have, by construction, an extraordinary and novel signification attached to it, so as to prevent the arrest of a willful trespasser? Can it be maintained that the person of a bad, reckless, or lawless man, who commits a willful injury upon the person or property of another, is more sacred in the eye of the law, or even of modern philanthropy, than a fraudulent or absconding debtor? Certainly not. We can see no reason why the simple language of the Constitution should be wrested from its plain and primary import, to prohibit arrests in this class of cases In our opinion, the just and reasonable construction of the Constitution limits the prohibition to the cases of debt or money due upon a contract; and as to private wrongs leaves the law as it found it, with full power in the Assembly to enlarge or restrict the remedy, as may best subserve the ends of justice and the public good This is a matter of serious import to peaceable people, and property-holders generally. If, in an action for a willful injury to person or property, the power of arrest is denied, in a majority of instances the remedy will be fruitless and a mockery. Wrong-doers of this character, have but little fear of an execution against property, merely, at the ends of weeks or months of litigation. In answer to this, it may be said that the party may be punished criminally. In most instances, we admit that he may, or that the attempt may be made; but that in no way compensates the injured party. To a fellow who knocks you down in the street, or girdles a favorite fruit tree in the night, a mere judgment for damages is of precious little concern, unless you can squeeze his pockets or other private resources, by the virtue of an arrest.

JOSEPHINE COUNTY.—From the Statesman we learn that there has been an annual defalcation in settling the States' quota of taxes from Josephine county This annual deficit has gone on increasing year by year. Previous to the State organization the sum of $2,038 61 was due the Territory from that county. In 1859 there was a deficit of $205 65, in 1860, $498 50, in 1861, $504 24, in 1862, $946 06, and $769 79 in forfeitures, making a total of $2,924 24 due the State, and a total defalcation of $4,962 85 Now, Josephine county wants to pay her taxes in greenbacks The whole matter deserves overhauling

CONNECTICUT —The bids for the State twenty years loan of $1,000,000, six per cent, amounted to $8,000,000 and over, all ranging very high, from par to $12 premium. Nearly the entire million was taken by two parties, Thomas W. Olcott, of Albany, and C Vanderbilt, of New York Very little is taken in the State

SEYMOUR ON EMANCIPATION —Our democratic cotemporaries are making much of Governor Seymour's Inaugural Message He only blames Mr Lincoln for emancipating the slaves of loyalists, but has not a word to say against taking the slaves of rebels If the Cayuse chivalry can find any comfort in that, they are entirely welcome to it

Miscellaneous Paragraphs

A French writer calls dyspepsia the remorse of a guilty stomach

Gen Duryea of Duryea's Zouaves has left the service on account of having an inferior appointed over him

Mr Lincoln frankly acknowledges that he was wrong in removing Gen Butler from the command of the Gulf Department

The Emperor of Austria has just ennobled a Hungarian Jew—an unusual act of liberality, which creates much comment in the empire

The blockading fleet has captured 441 vessels, of all classes valued at $[illegible]0,000,000 since the war begun Nearly the entire amount is British capital

Col Frederick Schaefer of the Second Missouri Volunteers who was killed at Murfreesboro, was a native of the Kingdom of Wurtemburg, and his command were Germans

Charles Ward of Salem in a letter to a Boston paper recommends apprenticing the contrabands now within the army lines to the corporate bodies who are authorized to build a Pacific railroad

The Governor of Minnesota says that that State has furnished 300 men over her quota besides crushing out the greatest Indian uprising ever known in the country The Governor demands that the Indians shall be removed from the borders of the State

Col Giles Smith of the Eighth Missouri Volunteers, was killed at Sherman's attack on Vicksburg His brother, now Gen Morgan L Smith, organized the regiment mentioned, and with it was in the lead in storming Fort Donelson Both brothers are noted for their heroism and high military qualifications

The editorial Brigadier General of one of our cotemporaries recently made an attempt to analyze Gen McClellan's military capacity and his campaigns, in an unfavorable light While reading it we were struck with the truth of the adage 'Fools rush in where angels fear to tread"

The Washington Republican denies officially and emphatically, that Gen J E B Stuart ever telegraphed to Quartermaster General Meigs, complaining of the inferior quality of the mules which he captured during his recent raid Whether this denial is prompted by a feeling of indignation at the imputation thrown upon our mules by Stuart, or of vexation at the rebel marauder's audacity in sending such a message, does not appear

FALSE.—Several of the democratic newspapers of this coast, notwithstanding the known falsity of what they utter, continue to circulate the report that the late Governor of New York, Edwin D. Morgan, has been drawing pay as a Major General in the United States army, while filling the place of Governor of his own State The report is utterly false, and those who have been circulating it either knew it to be so or did not know that it was true, having nothing but their own lying imaginations to draw upon It is true that Governor Morgan was a titular Major General in the army The New York World was the first to contradict the report, which was started by the Tribune out of personal malice to Morgan Further than this When the democracy abuse Morgan they indirectly hit Seymour, for Morgan, like Thurlow Weed did not oppose Seymour's election, and is doubtless pleased at it Another lie is in relation to the pay to be allowed the negro regiments The bill specifies that they shall receive clothing rations and the other allowances of a soldier, and five dollars a month This will be found in Mr. Stevens' bill to raise this black force

A FIGHTING MINISTER ABROAD —James Watson Webb is our representative at the Court of the Emperor of the Brazils He is noted for his pugnacity, which has led him into frequent duels and street fights The latest exhibition of his temper consists in having challenged the British Minister at Rio Janeiro to mortal combat The bold Briton declined to put himself up as a target for the irascible American and took refuge aboard of one of Her Majesty's ships of war to escape the wrath of his antagonist Certainly duelling is entirely wrong but the British have forced this style of arbitrament on our foreign representatives, on many occasions, by imputing to them the 'rascally virtue' of too much prudence The French attempted to make merry over the same subject [illegible] De Turgot had his leg shot off by Pierre Soule which made them feel less gay on the subject Perhaps these things are unjustifiable on any grounds, but when people will not go right, unless they are made to it becomes necessary to suit the arguments to the man and its success is certainly gratifying in the case of Webb and the British Minister to the Brazils

SOUTHERN OREGON —The Sentinel is agitating the question of opening a road from Jacksonville to the John Day and Powder river mines It is the only possible outlet for the superabundant produce of the southern part of the State At this time flour is worth $5 a barrel at Jacksonville and $40 in these mines It appears as if there should be enterprise enough in that section to build the road, and, if no other way will do, a company should organize to do it under the general incorporation law It would certainly be a profitable investment for a large amount of capital. To make the payment of tolls easier for farmers, they might be paid in kind and thus the man that owned a farm and teams could get his produce to market even if he were destitute of ready money

CAUGHT —A dispatch from Fort Churchill (N T,) of the 3d of February says Lieut Daley returned to-day, having in custody Lieut Williams, who shot a private of his command at Smoke Creek Station on the 17th of January and then left in the direction of Unionville Humboldt county Lieut Daley after several days hard riding succeeded in finding Williams in Cedar Canyon about seventy miles from Unionville Lieut Williams was sitting by a sage bush fire apparently lost, not knowing which way to go to find a friend to shelter him He is now in close confinement at this post, and seems very much dejected.

JEFFERSON ON SECESSION —In a letter to Richard Rush dated October 20th 1820 Thomas Jefferson expressed himself as follows [illegible] division of the United States

Should the schism of the States be pushed to separation it will be for a short term only Two or three years trial will bring them back like quarrelling lovers to renewed embraces and increased affections The experiment of separation would soon prove to both that they had mutually miscalculated their best interests And even were the parties in Congress to secede in a passion the soberer people would call a convention and cement again the severance attempted by the insanity of their functionaries With this consoling view my greatest grief would be for the fatal effect of such an event on the hopes and happiness of the world We exist and are quoted, as standing proofs that a Government so modelled as to rest continually on the will of the whole society is a practicable Government Were we to break to pieces it would damp the hopes and the efforts of the good and give triumph to those of the bad through the whole enslaved world As members therefore of the universal society of mankind and standing in high and responsible relation with them it is our sacred duty to suppress passion among ourselves and not to blast the confidence we have inspired of proof that a Government of reason is better than one of force

PARTIAL STATE EMANCIPATION —The Washington correspondent of the New York Evening Post says

Senator Collamer of Vermont made the best criticism upon that part of the President's Proclamation which gives freedom to one part of a State and slavery to another He remarked that like Hudibras, he was willing to trust to one spur for if one side of the horse was kept in good pace the other side would not be far behind The attempt to maintain slavery in a district, or small part of a State Southern people say will prove an utter failure and no doubt the President expects it to be so

THAT SALARY —The following is from the S F Bulletin's St Louis correspondence of the 8th of January

In this connection I may state that the report that Gov Morgan has all along drawn his salary as a Major General is untrue — Strange to say the report originated with the New York Tribune the leading organ of his party and that it has since been contradicted and disproved by the New York World, a paper which has violently opposed him

FUGITIVE SWINDLER —The New York Tribune of January 7th says

It now appears that Louis Kazinski the missing County Interpreter whom the Secesh press has been endeavoring to represent as one of the martyrs of the War Department has left for parts unknown That at the beginning of the war he was Lieutenant Colonel of a German regiment then being raised in this city, that arriving at the seat of war he resigned, because as he alleged he had been unwarrantably interfered with by the officers of the Government that the Colonel of said regiment had been arrested for defrauding the Government, and that as a similar fate awaited Kazinski he deemed it best to quit the scene so fraught with danger to his personal liberty It also appears that his locomotion was facilitated by the county which accepted an assignment of his pay for 'six months in advance' to Stillwell and Swaine, who paid him $600

A NEW REVENUE DECISION —Commissioner Boutwell has lately made a decision, which will interest grist mill owners He says that a "miller who sells from his mill flour or meal, at wholesale or retail, is required to take out a license as a dealer, but if he send all his products to a commission merchant for sale no license will be required, as the merchant's license covers the sale

The Daily Oregonian.

CITY.

The MORNING OREGONIAN has a larger SUBSCRIPTION LIST than any other Daily published in this City.

Legal Tender Notes this Day—65 cents.

VALENTINE'S DAY.—To-day is Valentine's Day, which is set apart for birds and lovers to mate for the coming year. The day was certainly adopted in a more genial clime than ours, where a snow-bird scarcely dare chirp at this season of the year. Unless it is observed with more seriousness than for several years past, it had better be passed over as any ordinary day of the year.

SAILED.—The steamer Pacific sailed for San Francisco by the way of Victoria. Her cargo consisted of 2,900 boxes of apples, 150 hides, 40 pkgs of lard, 20 pkgs of eggs, 80 quarter sacks of flour, 74 head of cattle, 250 head of sheep and 3 horses. Her treasure list amounted to $30,000, of which Wells, Fargo & Co. shipped $25,000.

READ IT.—On the outside of this issue will be found the fourth paper of the series entitled, "Texas Memories." The discriminating reader will at once observe the contrast between the treatment of loyalists in the South and the toleration with which the secessionists are treated in the loyal States. These things should ever be remembered by the loyal citizen, particularly when reading the denunciations of "Lincoln's tyranny" by the secesh papers of this State.

THE WEATHER.—The weather promises to melt the last of the snow in a few days, and in its place we are likely to have water enough to satisfy the most craving web-foot that ever lived in this modern Bœotia. A little attention to drains and sewers would not be amiss at this time.

FAVORS.—We are under renewed obligations to Senator B. F. Harding for the army and navy registers; the first to August, 1862, and the second for the year 1862. Also, the preliminary report of the Eighth Census of the United States.

CIRCUIT COURT.—The transactions in the Circuit Court yesterday were unimportant, the case of G. W. Vaughn against the City of Portland consuming the entire day. Jury out.

COULD NOT MAKE IT.—The Julia did not attempt the trip to the Cascades yesterday morning, but will do so to-day.

JEFF. DAVIS ON WEBSTER'S SPELLING BOOK.—We have before us, says the Albany Evening Journal, a somewhat antiquated copy of Webster's Elementary Spelling Book, on the fly-leaf of which we find the following emphatic indorsement of that venerable publication, and its influence in "teaching the young idea how to shoot" in the right direction, from the classic pen of Jefferson Davis:

"Above all other people we (the Americans) are one, and above all other books which have united us in the bond of a common language, I place the good, old Spelling Book of Noah Webster. We have a unity of language which no other people possess, and we owe this unity, above all else, to Noah Webster's Yankee Spelling Book."

PUT THEM OUT.—The Stockton Independent proposes to have all the Federal officials who have been lying around Sacramento, interfering in the Senatorial canvass, put out of office. The Sacramento Union seconds the movement. If they will include all the officials who have been speculating in greenbacks, everywhere, it will be just the thing, otherwise it will be a good work half done.

RATHER TALL.—A learned member of the French Academy has made the profound discovery, according to a scale of heights chronologically arranged, that Adam could have been no less than 123 feet 9 inches high, while Eve was about 5 feet less. Since then humanity is supposed to have been rapidly degenerating, as the Academician only grants 28 feet to Abraham, and but 13 feet to Moses.

BLOOD-MONEY.—A late number of the Winchester, Tennessee, Republican contains the following advertisement:

I understand $50,000 is offered as a reward to whoever will kill the Beast Butler of New Orleans. I accept the offer, and require $25,000 forfeit to be placed in some good hands. When I accomplish the noble deed I am to be paid the reward. My name can be found when desired by the proper persons.

ADVERTISING.—There probably never has been a firm in the Clothing trade that has advertised more extensively than the House of Heuston, Hastings & Co., formerly of Marysville and Sacramento, now in San Francisco and New York. Their trade to-day in San Francisco, exceeds that of any three other Houses in the State.

Coughs.—The sudden changes of our climate are sources of PULMONARY, BRONCHIAL and ASTHMATIC AFFECTIONS. Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily and certainly when taken in the early stages of the disease, recourse should at once be had to "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Lozenges, let the Cold, Cough, or Irritation of the Throat be ever so slight, as by this precaution a more serious attack may be effectually warded off. PUBLIC SPEAKERS and SINGERS will find them effectual for clearing and strengthening the voice. See advertisement. dec16daw3m

Storage.—THE FIRE-PROOF STONE WAREHOUSE, opposite Umatilla House, is the only building, "not made of wood, at the Dalles, where goods are taken on STORAGE. All other houses that take goods on storage are wooden buildings and in exposed parts of the town liable to the risk of fire. The subscriber assures his patrons that his charges are but $1 50 per ton per month storage and although storage in wooden buildings is $1 00 per ton, yet the public cannot fail to perceive the advantages the subscriber possesses over other warehouses of this place.

White's Fever and AgueDrops For the cure of AGUE, PANAMA FEVER, NEURALGIA and GENERAL DEBILITY.

This medicine has been used in private practice for many years with great success. Indeed, in no instance has it failed to effect a speedy cure in Ague especially, one bottle having been found sufficient in most cases and in none are more than two bottles required.

A great number of testimonials could be given to verify these statements but the proprietor prefers relying upon the merits of the medicine alone. A cure is guaranteed in nine cases out of ten.

The Eye and Ear Diseases.

It must not be forgotten by the eye and ear sufferers that Dr Van Zandt has made these ailments an especial study and that he is the only Surgeon in our State who has a diploma for that branch of practice. Very many of the eye and ear troubles are purely deranged nervous action, and are cured by his electro-galvanic battery—as amaurosis, squinting, cataract, floating specks before the vision, twitching of the eyelids, nervous deafness, roaring and buzzing noises in the ears, giddiness, etc. All operations successfully done on those delicate organs of sense.

If they are not satisfied with its healing properties, the money will be cheerfully returned by the agent where the medicine is for sale.

Texas Memories

BY [illegible]

No. 4.

I said, how was it possible for us to escape when every action was so closely watched? The John Bell, a small propeller, was on the 30th of May advertised to endeavor to make the trip from Galveston to Berwick's Bay—hoping to get out before the blockading fleet could arrive, and knowing if once out she was small enough and sufficiently well acquainted with the inlets of the coast to run into places where the gunboats could not follow. Berwick's Bay is a part of Atchafalaya Bay—where there was railroad communication with New Orleans—which could only be reached this way, as the U S fleet was off the mouths of the Mississippi. This advertisement we saw on Monday and she was to sail on Tuesday; but reach her we must. With a sick husband and a little one for whom to care most of the minor details for preparation fell upon myself. When failing to make a collection of any kind, I was almost discouraged, and hardly dared to think or grieve over the many things of value to which I was attached and which must all be left behind—home, choice music, and many little things to which a woman's heart clings. Still these were of no value compared with our lives. To take much with us would excite suspicion—so carrying nothing but necessary articles, and carefully burning all letters or papers which might in any way implicate us, we marked our trunks Montgomery, Alabama, then the Capitol of the so-called Confederacy, and where all knew we had relatives active in the Southern cause, and took our place in the cars for Galveston on Wednesday noon. But one person knew our destination, and quietly helped us in every possible way. That evening we crossed the longest railroad bridge in the States, from Virginia Point to Galveston, being two miles in length, and the next morning were fairly started on the John Bell, yet hardly daring to hope. A few hours out from port the ugliness of the weather and the frailness of the boat caused a remonstrance to be drawn up and signed by nearly all the passengers against further proceeding, and requesting the Captain to return. We did not sign it; I would rather have gone down than have turned back. Fortunately for us, the Captain decided that the danger was as great to go back as to go on, and finally we reached Berwick's Bay, after a stormy passage, and having to lay by two days in Sabine Bay for repairs. At Brashear, a town on Berwick river, the rebels were erecting a fort. The passengers were each called upon for a donation toward it. Rather than raise suspicion, we did as the rest, but if I remember right the sum was not at all munificent from our pockets. On reaching New Orleans the steamer John Welsh was just leaving for Memphis, and we were fortunate enough to get on board and ere many days were in that city. The place was defended by cotton bales placed as breastworks on the bluff. Fifteen thousand rebel soldiers were encamped there. At this place all trunks going toward Louisville, Kentucky, were searched; and all arms or weapons of doubtful purpose were seized. In a few hours time we were safely in Louisville, where for the first time in seven months I saw the Stars and Stripes and it was with a thankful heart I felt that we were safe. It was rather curious to find a party of seven or eight, who had come from New Orleans with us, turn out to be as strong Unionists as ourselves. We remembered them as being the strongest kind of Southerners when in rebeldom. But all is fair I suppose at such a time.

At last has a force been sent toward Texas of sufficient size to warrant comment. True, some time ago the seaports were taken, but Galveston was garrisoned by a mere handful of men. The western part of Texas is loyal. It is inhabited mostly by Germans and it is seldom they are found fighting against us. If the people could only feel that a force which would be sufficient to defend them would be sent there, and to keep the place after it was taken, their true sentiments would be loudly spoken. But while they think that only a few are sent to keep and guard a place taken and that at any time a superior force of rebels may reclaim it, they are afraid to come out for the Union, dreading the vengeance of the reb.

We, who have been through scenes which make the blood chill, and have haply escaped, look with astonishment on a certain class of people to be found in the North, who have the idea that the rebellion and its leaders must be handled with kid gloves, and that we must not do anything to exasperate our sister States—they must be won back by a great deal of coaxing—not at the bayonet point. Such arguments are contemptible, and every advocate of such doctrines is in my estimation one who wants to be a rebel and does not quite dare. It is very well to talk of conciliation and mediation. The only conciliation which ought to be extended to the South is to hurl our armies upon her so fast, and our fleets so speedily that she will be obliged to yield. And as for the worthy nephew of his uncle, every word of his mediation ought to be forced down his throat. At no other time would the European powers dare to insult us as they have done and are doing. Oh, that we could see the beginning of the end of this home war, that we might spare a little time to instruct England in the true laws of neutrality. She may rest assured, though, that her part in these transactions will never be forgotten. She fits out her "290" to prey upon our commerce, burn up our vessels and set every captain in a quiver as to whether he will safely reach port. We fit out load after load of provisions for her starving poor—to heap coals of fire on her head. What is the use of putting coals on a salamander—a thing that cannot burn—a kingdom that can neither feel nor appreciate the act, and in return will detain our pursuing vessels until the pirate has a chance to run clear. If this is neutrality, we will learn the new definition well, and ere long may have the chance to show we are apt scholars.

Would to God the close of the year would see the close of the war. But so often has its end been predicted, we can only wait now till it is accomplished. In the mean time, let us all do our part. There are many who, not openly against us, are willing to kick at the Government a little, if in the mean time, they can fill their own pockets a little. The people have done nobly,—have done their part—With the Government now rests the final actions. God speed them in their good work. And though our dear ones, many, many of them lie low in their graves, if the end be accomplished, we can think they were yielded in a good cause. For our motto let us take

> "Then conquer we must,
> For our cause it is just,
> And this be our motto
> In God is our trust"

They will [illegible] [illegible] the coming Spring on the frontiers of this State and Washington Territory and [illegible] an expedition against the Snake Indians who have so long been murderously engaged in [illegible] ling emigrants and murdering our fellow citizens. I cannot doubt that the citizens of Oregon who have always promptly responded to any demand for their military services will in like manner respond at this call thereby showing their loyalty to the Government and aiding in chastising marauding bands of Indians which infest our frontiers.

The enlisted men when mounted will be supplied with horses by the United States it being understood that they will be mounted or not as shall be deemed advisable by the Government.

Propositions to raise a whole company who will furnish their own horses and horse equipments, may be entertained. The men are in such cases entitled to forty cents a day for the use and risk of their horses and horse equipments.

Each company will consist of one hundred enlisted men and when mustered into the service of the United States will serve for three years, unless sooner discharged.

Recruiting offices will be immediately opened at Portland, Dalles City, and perhaps at other places. By the Governor,
